

Rebuild, Restore, and Sustain...

The Shambhala Meditation Center of Milwaukee's Dual Campaign for 2018

Case for Support

Every day we witness pain, conflict, injustice, and destruction whether in our personal lives or as part of the larger society in which we live.

How do we navigate this world without adding to our own suffering, or that of others?

How do we avoid succumbing to our own fear, confusion, and cynicism?

How do we stay connected to our basic humanity?

For 40 years the Shambhala Meditation Center of Milwaukee has provided:

Inspiration from a rich legacy of Buddhist and mindfulness-based teachings that guide us to exercise courage and compassion.

A comprehensive program of meditation education and practice that helps us to be grounded in our basic sanity.

A supportive community of friends and teachers that helps us to stay connected and fully engaged with the world.

Our building, the place where all of this happens, is now in need of care.

Not just some minor maintenance. Major and urgent repairs like replacing the roof and repairing water damage that, if not taken care of now, will threaten its viability.

You can make a difference.

Please make a generous contribution to the rebuilding campaign today.

We have thrived as a community thanks to the generous support of friends and members like you.

You can help us to ensure that our building continues to be a place where we can gather together.

Your gift will have a positive impact, benefitting our members and the many people who walk through our doors, now and for years to come.
